

Lynn Slavenski, Ph.D.

Senior Consultant, NTS, Inc.

Lynn is a senior consultant with NTS, Inc. As a former human resource executive she brings a wealth of business experience to her coaching sessions. Previous to NTS, Inc. she was Sr. Vice President-Global Learning and Development and Chief Learning Officer of Equifax University. She was formerly Head of Education and Career Development with Coca-Cola USA, and Head of Training for Blue Cross/Blue Shield.

Through out her career she has been responsible for Sales Education and recently rollout a completely new go to market strategy with sales skills training and assessment at the core of it.

She has done consulting with NTS, Inc. for coaching leaders and managers at Darden, Solvay Pharmaceuticals, DexMedia, AT&T/Cingular Wireless, Bell South Enterprises, BellSouth Corp, Department of Labor, Sanno Institute - Japan, Center for Disease Control, the American Red Cross, Prudential Bank, Georgia Tech, Fernbank Museum, Home Depot, Center for Puppetry Arts, and Campbell Soup.

She has published seventeen articles including a chapter in Amacon's HR Yearbook and has given over 40 presentations for professional organizations in the areas of assessment, coaching, career development, high potential development and, and executive development.

Lynn has advanced degrees in Career/Organizational and Human Resource Development and has her doctorate in management. She lives in Atlanta, Georgia. Lynn is active in the Human Resource Planning Society and serves on their board and has held officer position with the Executive Committee.

Assessment Certifications: Hogan Assessments (HPI – Leadership Potential and Leadership Challenge –Derailers), Myers-Briggs, 360 survey through several vendors and DISC. Decision StyleView Certification –predicts top 20 percent of leaders. Assessment Center Coach.